Tomorrow (Mon.), we'll take a short holiday, both to give our residential practitioners a bit of a rest, and also in acknowledgment of Indigenous Peoples Day, and the sorrowful associations it has for native peoples. Thus the zendo (meditation hall) will be closed, with the regular schedule resuming at 6:00 a.m. Tuesday the 11th.

And...

Please come and join us next Saturday (15 Oct.) for a Dharma talk by Tova Green. Tova has been priest-ordained by former San Francisco Zen Center Abbess Jiko Linda-Ruth Cutts, and is a former Director of the Buddhist Peace Fellowship and practitioner of engaged Buddhism. Zazen will precede as always at 9:25, with the talk following at 10:15, and the ever-popular tea and cookies afterwards. All are welcome.
